Striking Students in Rally Today

Their ranks swelled by many spectators, high school students staged a mass demonstration outside Worcester City Hall today . . . and, here, one segment of striking students and friends is pictured in their dramatic effort to cut an added hour from their school day. Meanwhile, school classes were under way for non-strikers.

British Take Dutch City

By JAMES M. LONG

LONDON, Sept. 19 (AP)—A powerful, growing army of Allied sky troops which vaulted across the Rhine in Holland battled forward today, threatening to break through into northern Germany around the flank of the Siegfried line.

The lower Rhine was knocked out as a German defense line. The British Second Army in a ground push linked with other airborne forces landed farther south in Holland, and a front dispatch said it had seized Eindhoven, seventh largest Dutch city, 10 miles above the Belgian border.

The airborne army descended in the area of Nijmegen and Arnhem, the two lower branches of the Rhine, near the Reich and astride the Rhine, as well as near Eindhoven, supreme headquarters disclosed.

British ground forces were reported 12 miles north of Eindhoven, halfway to Nijmegen and Arnhem. The northern forces near those towns had blocked out Nazi reserves, virtually cut off Rotterdam, The Hague and Amsterdam, and more than held their own in a fight for key Rhine road and bridges.

Berlin indicated new airborne landings above the Rhine delta, near Rotterdam, Amsterdam and The Hague. This would put the battle front in the heart of Holland, across the last great Dutch water barrier.

Three American armies meanwhile were battering slowly toward the Rhine in Germany, cutting through defenses which guard Cologne, Strasbourg and Mulhouse.

The Germans were desperately resisting all three American offensives on a broad front, hurling in heavy counter-attacks with tanks, artillery and planes. Rains hampered the Americans.

Armored and infantry batales swirled north and east of Nancy. Many Nazi forces in north France had been left virtually without motorized transport, and had no choice but to fight or be overrun by Americans.

Progress of the parachute and glider-borne forces in Holland out of their initial descent spots was highly satisfactory, headquarters said. Men and supplies were poured in again today for the third successive day.

Eindhoven, a big communications center, and Geldrop, seven miles east, were swept up by the British Second Army plunge from Belgium. They lie 10 miles inside Holland from the Belgian border.

Berlin, which yesterday declared that airborne troops had been wiped out, today detailed areas where Lt. Gen. Brereton's plane-ferried men were fighting.

Evacuation of the Britanny port of Brest also was acknowledged by German broadcasts.

While the flanking sweep developed in Holland the main weight of the Allied land assault was battering through the Rhineland on the last 20 or 25 miles to Cologne. Other U. S. columns were hitting through the Lorraine gap in new gains beyond Nancy and closing steadily upon Belfort, gateway to southwestern Germany.

The Germans hurled in reserves from the Russian front, risked some of their remaining planes and fired their biggest artillery barrages since Normandy.

In Germany a bitter cleanout fight raged toward a climax in the big city of Aachen.

U. S. First Army troops slashed 13 miles northeast of Maastricht to Sittard, on the Dutch-German border 20 miles above Aachen, and stabbed into the outer defenses of the Siegfried line at Obachsberg and Simpelveld, seven miles above Aachen.

Adolph's Demand

NANCY, France, Sept. 19 (AP)—German prisoners reported today that Adolf Hitler visited Metz five days ago and demanded that the garrison hold out at least 10 days, promising that a new secret V-weapon would appear soon.

WESTERN FRONT—British forces are reported to have made contact with airborne troops in Holland following the capture of the important rail junction of Eindhoven. Other airborne forces are reported to have landed near Rotterdam, Amsterdam and The Hague on the Rhine delta . . . while beyond the Aachen breakthrough, Yanks are ripping the cross-river defenses on the approaches to Cologne.

U. S. Fliers Drop Warsaw Supplies

MOSCOW, Sept. 19 (AP)—American Flying Fortresses in one of the largest shuttle operations ever sent into Russia dropped scores of tons of arms, food, ammunition and medicine to Polish Patriots fighting inside Warsaw yesterday.

Reds Destroying Hitler Reserves

By DANIEL DE LUCE

MOSCOW, Sept. 19 (AP)—Grinding down German armored reserves at the rate of nearly one panzer division a day, the Red Army has tightened a strangling grip on the enemy's mid-Baltic communications in Latvia in a gigantic five-day battle which may be another fulfillment of Stalin's classic strategy—surround and destroy.

Front reports today indicated there still is no pause in the ferocious engagement begun Friday west of Jelgava, where the main Baltic roads and railways meet.

700 U. S. Forts Hit Rail Yards

LONDON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Around 700 Flying Fortresses attacked German rail yards at Hamm and Soest today while other hundreds of Allied planes reinforced and supplied the airborne army invading Holland.

During the night, heavy British bombers rained 420,000 fire bombs on the German port of Bremerhaven, lighting it from end to end. Mosquitos attacked Berlin for the 179th time, using two-ton bombs.

Philippines Hit From 3d Base

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

American ground forces, fighting over some of the toughest terrain of the Pacific war, drove today toward the climactic battles for two islands in the strategic Palau group as Tokyo radio indicated U. S. warplanes may already be operating against the Philippines from a third island invaded last week.

War correspondents reported from Peleliu island in southern Palau that 1st Div. Marines had knocked out all of the Jap tanks and most of their harassing artillery. Nearly 5500 Japs, more than half the estimated garrison, were killed in the first four days.

The principal town, Asias, two villages, and the adjacent islet of Ngarmoked were captured as the Japanese steadily retreated.

Infantrymen of the Army's 91st Div., filtering through a maze of vines and tropical underbrush, occupied the northern half of Little Angaur island, killing fewer than 100 of the elusive defenders on the way. A large phosphate refinery, important to Japan's munitions industry, the town of Saipan, and a large railway yard were among their prizes.

Tokyo reported 55 Lightnings and Liberators yesterday bombed Davao, largest city in the southern Philippines, indicating the air field on newly invaded Morotai island was already in use.

The Japs made two "ineffective night raids" on Morotai in their first counteraction against Gen. MacArthur's invasion.

Danes Battling German Troops

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 19 (AP)—Danish policemen battled German naval troops trying to seize the Royal Castle of Amalienborg at Copenhagen today, and Danes and Germans were fighting in the capital and other places where the Nazis tried to seize police stations, the Danish press service reported.

New Air Robots Kill Londoners

LONDON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Robot bombs apparently launched from planes over the North sea crashed down on London and southern England early today, killing a number of women and children. Some of the victims had ignored government appeals to remain at evacuation centers.

Shortly before noon, big guns on the British channel coast started throwing shells across the Strait of Dover.

Nazi Fanatics Ply Bayonets

By PIERRE J. HUSS

WITH U. S. THIRD ARMY ON MOSELLE, Sept. 19 (INS) (Delayed)—American machine-guns southeast of Nancy mowed down the Germans today when a detachment of young Nazi fanatics staged a rare charge with bayonets fixed.

They came out of the woods on the double in the fashion of oldtime warfare, yelling for Hitler and the Fatherland.

Eyes agleam beneath their helmets, they spurted forward shouting crazily and dropped dead in their tracks as American machine-gun bullets cut them down in waves. Some of the gunners were convinced these Germans were virtually out of their minds and had been deluded by their officers into thinking they had been chosen personally by Hitler to turn the tide of battle.

Yanks Scale 3 Peaks, Score Great Success in Gothic Line

ROME, Sept. 19 (AP)—Breaking through formidable Nazi fortifications and scoring what was officially termed a great success, American Fifth Army troops yesterday captured 3300-foot Monte Portione, Monte Altuzzo and Monte Celli in the Gothic line 20 miles northeast of Florence.

The enemy was driven from these heights after one of the fiercest days of fighting in the entire Italian campaign, official field dispatches said.

British and Indian troops under Fifth Army command contributed materially to the American success by executing flanking movements.

Meanwhile, British troops of the Eighth Army, beating back heavy enemy opposition, drove into the little republic of San Marino near the Adriatic coast.

The Americans are within 27 miles of Bologna, important communications and industrial center in the Po valley.

Finland Signs Armistice Pact

LONDON, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Moscow radio announced today that Finland had signed an armistice with Russia and Britain. Terms will be disclosed later.

A Stockholm dispatch said it was reported there that the terms were approved by the Finnish Parliament this morning.

The Swedish press generally characterized the armistice terms as "hard."

The stipulation causing the Finns most anxiety was said to be a Russian demand for a 50-year lease of the Porkkala naval base on the Finnish gulf, with territory stretching inland only eight miles from Helsinki. Another report was that Finland must cede the far-north port of Petsamo.

Finnish troops are already reported operating against the Germans in northern Finland.

Babs Hutton Suit Says She Quit Count As He Hit Son

"I was awakened one morning by the screams of my son Lance. I found that Reventlow, in one of his fits of temper, had struck the child over the head with his hand."

Barbara Hutton Grant, dime store heiress, today made that charge in support of her allegations that Count Court Haugwitz Reventlow, her former husband, was "abusive and intolerably cruel."

She cited other instances of the Danish count's alleged cruelty in a new legal action filed in Wilmington, Del., federal court, seeking to cut Reventlow off from the income of a $1,500,000 trust fund she established for him in 1938.

Reventlow, with his second wife, is now living at the Beaconsfield Hotel, Brookline, while Lance is attending Rivers Country Day School in Chestnut Hill.

The count said he had not seen his ex-wife's affidavit and refused to comment.

His counsel, Lothrop Withington, promised that "my client's answer will be made at the proper time in court."

Withington said the incidents charged by Mrs. Grant allegedly occurred in 1938, prior to the separation agreement in 1939, which gave Reventlow custody of Lance.

"These charges were obviously broadcast for the purpose of trying to injure my client in the public mind," Withington declared.

"The child was screaming for his nurse," Barbara declared in the affidavit. "He was then just past 2 years of age. The bones of his head had not entirely closed.

"I seized the child and took him to my room and after giving him into his nurse's care I returned to Reventlow's room and informed him I could no longer continue to live with him and that I had to leave him."

She related that Reventlow "began to cry and begged me not to leave him." She agreed to a temporary separation, at the end of which "I followed him to Winfield House, my home in London, with considerable hope and confidence that we could get on together."

The attempted reconciliation collapsed, she said, when "after a day or so his conduct became worse than ever.

"I told him if it was money he wanted I would give another million dollars." Mrs. Grant stated she told Reventlow when he said, according to the affidavit, that he had become accustomed to luxurious living as the husband of one of America's richest heiresses.

She said Reventlow, through her attorney, threatened to kill her and take Lance permanently. The alleged threats were reported to Scotland Yard and guards were posted about her London home, she said.

"A warrant was obtained for his arrest in the event he returned to carry out his threat," Mrs. Grant stated.

Charge Reds Spur Revolt of Students

WORCESTER, Sept. 19—Approximately 3000 high school students continued their strike against lengthened study hours today, five of them so vociferously they were arrested, while school authorities probed reports young Communist organizers had intruded themselves into the rebellion.

Although 1000 or more pupils went back to the four high schools this morning under threat of parental discipline, the majority staged a second demonstration at City Hall, then held two mass meetings.

At Elm Park, on the city's outskirts, they shouted themselves hoarse in approval of young orators who urged them to stick to their guns.

The strikers were advised by their leaders to obtain notes signed by parents who approved the stand against a longer school day.

They arranged to meet at the park tomorrow at 8 a. m. and bring their lunches. Speakers from each of the high schools urged the strike be carried on in "an orderly manner and with no rowdyism."

An earlier demonstration and mass meeting on the Common at the rear of City Hall had been more rugged in tone, so Capt. John J. Kalager, chief of detectives, had 15 men at Elm Park. He ordered them:

"Let them go. Let them talk their heads off and say anything the want to say, so long as they are orderly. It's all right—if they don't go bolshevikv."

Later the harassed captain scratched his head in wonderment and sighed, "It must be the war!" His squads were leg-weary from two days of trying to keep the strikers out of City Hall, where 100 policemen were on guard this morning.

The first intimation that outsiders may be urging the students on came from Supt. Thomas F. Power—who looked from his City Hall office today to see himself carried in effigy by strikers. Power had upped their school day by one hour, establishing study hours from 8 a. m. to 2 p. m.

"Some of the pupils who went back to school today have told their principal a number of the strike leaders are 'outsiders,'" he declared. "I couldn't get any more out of the principal. I wish I were principal of that school for a little while!" he added.

Power said he was investigating to determine if Communists had exploited unrest among the boys and girls, and if so, who they were, so police might take action.

A political note was injected by young orators at the Elm Park mass meeting. They urged the students to "take an interest in politics" when candidates for the school committee run again.

A new and respected voice entered the controversey today. It was that of Calvin H. ("Pop") Continued on Page 8, Column 3

Lake Reveals Chaos at Front

By AUSTEN LAKE

ON THE ROAD TO BERLIN (Delayed)—This is no spot for a novice to the ways of war! There is serious danger for the correspondent who goes on free-lance, non-conducted prowls over the spiderweb of roads. He might, inadvertently, of course, find himself behind German lines. And don't think that it hasn't happened!

There is no fixed day-to-day front line, and no permanent sign postings. It is like a half-tamed wilderness. It is a rubbery form of warfare which flexes and bends.

You move forward at your own peril and the M. P.'s wave you on according to your hand signals, with no curiosity of what you are, and only an impersonal shrug which implies, "If the damn fools want to get killed or captured, it's their business."

So the young lieutenant and I inched cautiously forward over a road where knots of obviously shell-dazed French peasants were trudging rearward, aimlessly and with no other destination than to escape the ferocity of shrapnel. They waved vigorously as though anxious to establish friendship.

Dewey in Fiery Attack On 'Indispensable Man'

By LEO W. O'BRIEN

ABOARD DEWEY TRAIN, en route to Portland, Ore., Sept. 19 (INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey headed into Portland today for a blast at the "indispensable man" issue after charging at Seattle the "chief blame" for wartime strikes belongs to President Roosevelt.

As he swung south along the Pacific coast for the fourth major speech of his transcontinental campaign tour, his secretary announced the title of tonight's nation-wide broadcast from Portland would be "Is There an Indispensable Man?"

Making good his promise this will be a "fighting" campaign, Dewey told an audience of 8000 in the Seattle Civic Auditorium last night the Roosevelt administration's labor policy has fostered "class division, hate and insecurity" and the New Deal is "exclusively responsible" for most of the serious wartime strikes.

Emphasizing his charge that labor has been made a political pawn of the present administration, Dewey said there has been a deliberate campaign of delay for political purposes in settling labor disputes.

"This policy of delay, delay and more delay," he said, "serves only the New Deal and its political ends. It puts the leaders of labor on the spot. It makes them come hat-in-hand to the White House. It makes political loyalty the test of a man getting his rights.

"Personal government instead of government by law, politics instead of justice, prevail in the labor field in this country, and I am against that kind of administration and always will be."

The Republican nominee singled out Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins as a special target, describing her as an "estimable lady" who, for 12 years of "New Deal bungling," has been Secretary of Labor "in name only."

Gov. Dewey's scheduled arrival in Portland was delayed four hours by a freight train wreck at Castlerock, Wash.

The delay will not hamper the nation-wide broadcast tonight but many scheduled conferences will be called off.

Flier's Fortune To Hub Widow

News of the plane crash death last Aug. 11 of RCAF Pilot William D. Grant, who married the former Julianna Sweetser in a brilliant society ceremony in Brookline in 1939, came here today with announcement of the probating of his will in Atlanta, Ga.

Under the terms of the will, one-half of his $900,000 estate is left to his widow, while the remainder will go to their young son when he reaches his 21st birthday.

His widow is named as sole executrix of the estate, which consists mainly of the Grant building in downtown Atlanta.

Mrs. Grant is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson Sweetser of Sargent rd., Brookline.

Bricker Backs Law for Vets

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 19 AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker, Republican candidate for vice-president, elaborated on his position on soldiers' benefits here today after coming from Chicago where he addressed the American Legion national convention.

Asked if his proposals of legislation to help returning members of the armed forces could be considered class legislation, he replied:

"If there is any justification for class legislation, it certainly runs to the veterans, and if it is class legislation, is good legislation."

The Governor added that war veterans really "represent not a class, but the nation as a whole."

In a discussion of the CIO Political Action Committee, Bricker was asked if he thought labor should participate in politics.

"I think every individual," he replied, "should participate. That is the duty of every citizen."

FD Asks Budget On Reconversion

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (INS)—President Roosevelt called Budget Director Harold D. Smith today to prepare plans for the "reconversion" of federal war agencies at the end of hostilities.

In a letter to Smith he requested him to re-examine programs, organization and staffing of government agencies and submit recommendations for adjusting them from "the needs of the war to the needs of peace."

He also specifically asked for planning to make possible a reduction of the number of workers on the government payrolls when the war ends.

Congress Conferees Agree on Reconversion

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—A joint Congressional committee gave its final approval to a postwar reconversion bill today after eliminating a Senate provision to authorize unemployment compensation for 3,100,000 federal employes and back home travel pay for discharged war workers.

Chairman George (D.) of Georgia said the modified measure would be called up to the Senate with a view of sending it to the House by nightfall.

Downs Trust Suit Delayed in U. S. Court

Judge Sweeney in federal court today continued to Thursday a hearing on a petition by the Securities Exchange Commission to throw into receivership the Aldred Investment Trust, which controls Suffolk Downs.

A similar action by Charles F. Stratton of New York, a shareholder, has been heard by Judge Sweeney. The SEC charges Gordon Hanlon, head of the trust and president of Suffolk Downs, with misconduct and abuse of trust and names his associates, Milton N. Hanlon, W. Edward Higbee, John L. Arnold, Malcolm M. Bowen, Ezra D. Hart and Robert Loring.

'Rome Hanks' Case Filed—But No Sales

A police department complaint, charging Charles Scribner's Sons, publishers, with selling an obscene book—The History of Rome Hanks—was placed on file without finding today by Judge Joseph Zottoli in Municipal Court.

Judge Zottoli's action followed a bench conference between counsel for the publishers and Sgt. Joseph L. Parrett, who brought the complaint.

The book remains withdrawn from public sale in Boston.

Saltonstall Sees Dewey Victory Here

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Gov. Saltonstall of Massachusetts predicted today Gov. Dewey of New York would carry Massachusetts and do "a doggone sight better" than Willkie did in 1940.

President Roosevelt won Massachusetts four years ago by approximately 136,000.

Saltonstall said at a press conference there has been a Republican trend in Massachusetts during the past few weeks and he termed Dewey a candidate "in whom the people have confidence."

Gloucesterman Heads Seabees Taking Whole Seaport to France

One of the few Naval officers entrusted as long ago as last February with the secret of the exact date of D-Day and even the spot where the Allies would make their historic lunge into France was Lt. Henry Oakes, USNR, veteran Gloucester fisherman.

He holds the Legion of Merit for his outstanding work in various amphibious operations.

Lt. Oakes, now at Newport, R. I., awaiting a new assignment, was brought to London last February from the Mediterranean area, where he had compiled a distinguished record in amphibious operations, and was briefed then on the part he was to play in making the long-awaited invasion a success.

His particular assignment at that time was to train Seabees for the important part they were to play on D-Day and he has nothing but admiration for these handy-men of the naval service.

"They're one swell outfit," he said. "They can do anything you ask them to and they're always on the ball.

"Our particular job was to take a whole port over to the far side (France) and install it there to assure the continuous flow of supplies and materials to the troops who were storming into the beachhead.

"We carried a floating breakwater, docks and pierheads, and the job of the Seabees was to get it in there and installed in four and one-half hours from the time we hit the beach.

"They caught hell, just like the rest of the boys did on D-Day, but they did the job. We landed between the Vire and Orne rivers and that port was installed right to the minute. They had to sink a mile and one-half of breakwater, which was carried over in sections, and then install the docks and pierheads."

Of his own service, Lt. Oakes was more reticent. He volunteered for naval service in 1940 and went in as chief boatswain's mate.

After working on harbor defenses in Newfoundland and Iceland and ferrying ammunition around the North Atlantic, he was commissioned to the rank of lieutenant, junior grade, before leaving for the Mediterranean to work in amphibious operations.

He became a two-striper in January, 1943, and was on active duty in the Mediterranean theater until recalled to London to prepare for D-Day.

Boston Seeks Legion Victory Convention

By JAMES F. McENANEY

CHICAGO, Sept. 19—With the nation's commanders in the air, sea and on land predicting a speedy and devastating victory, Boston today made its bid for the American Legion's 1945 Victory convention.

In seeking a third-time visit of the Legion, Frank Kelley, Boston's associate park commissioner, acted in behalf of Mayor Tobin.

Kelley, a convention delegate, was seconded in submitting the invitation by Thomas Mackey of Somerville, Massachusetts state commander, and other Bay State Legion leaders.

At the same time, Veterans' Administrator Hines informed John L. Delay, retired Bay State commander, that a veterans' center soon will be located in downtown Boston, ending a long battle to have services moved from West Roxbury.

Hines, reporting on the administration of the GI Bill of Rights, said 10,000 World War II veterans have applied for educational grants and 5600 have been approved.

Vocational training applications have been mailed to 149,600 veterans. A total of 29,204 have responded thus far, and 3590 are undergoing training.

The Veterans' Administration will have 200,000 beds for wounded men, Hines said. He expected the peak for hospitalization requests would not be reached until 1975 when another 100,000 beds will be required.

End Bus Strike, Hint New Clash

Striking bus and trolley car operators of the Quincy, Melrose and Salem divisions of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway ended their short-lived walkout on a note of confusion today with threats that the strike might flare again at 5 p. m.

Quincy operators voted unanimously to return to work after a two-hour meeting in Johnson Hall, during which they were urged to take such action by local President John J. Walsh and Jesse A. Levine, head of the Melrose division local.

Melrose and Salem followed suit as soon as they heard of the Quincy action and cars and buses began to roll on the transportation-crippled divisions at 10:30 a. m.

With cars and buses running again, union leaders and company officials met at the State House and signed an agreement whereby the company will assume payment of group life insurance premiums for the drivers as the next step in the settlement.

The agreement was forwarded to Regional WLB Chairman Saul Wallen, who had agreed to recommend approval on the retroactive provisions to June 2, 1943. Action on this was expected later this afternoon.

Although union officials would not comment, many of the rank and file members of the union asserted they would resume the strike at 5 p. m. unless WLB approval was granted before that hour.

Gov. Saltonstall was absent for a luncheon engagement in New York after working at the State House until midnight to bring about a compromise. He maintained constant touch with the situation by telephone.

The compromise agreement would call for payment, in addition to the modified bonus approved by the WLB last week, of the group insurance premiums by the company. Various estimates placed the figures thus resulting as equivalent to 4½ to 6 cents plus per hour raise for the drivers.

The threats of a 5 p. m. walkout in the three affected centers —Quincy, Melrose and Salem— again presented the possibility of Army intervention.

Failure of the Melrose and Quincy divisions to start their early morning runs again stranded thousands of commuters on both the North and South Shores, strike there early today, and their 67 buses were idle.

The shipyards at Fore River and Quincy were further crippled by the lack of early morning transportation.

Lynn Woman Dead In Fumigated House

Mrs. Ellen Sugarman, 30, of West Baltimore st., Lynn, was found dead today in her home, an apartment building from which all other tenants had been temporarily evacuated yesterday, according to police, so it might be fumigated.

A mysterious aspect confronting police was the fact that Mrs. Sugarman and her ex-soldier husband, John, left the apartment in accordance with the landlord's notice of the plan to fumigate.

Sugarman found his wife's body today. He told police they had left the apartment with the understanding she would stay with his sister in Brookline and he would go to the home of friends in West Lynn.

He said he telephoned his sister this morning and learned his wife had not appeared there. Hurrying to his home, he found her on the floor. Nearby was a newspaper of an edition she could not have purchased before 9 p. m. last night.

Dr. Lawrence A. Cusick, medical examiner, made a finding of accidental death caused by inhalation of poisonous fumes.

Guard Shoots At Cape Looter

State Guards were reinforced in Cape Cod's hurricane-stricken communities today as the first shots were fired to end widespread looting.

The shots were fired by a State Guardsman at a looter near the Craigville bathhouse, in the aftermath of warnings that only property owners with proper credentials will be allowed in the heavily damaged areas.

These sections, including New Bedford, Fairhaven and all the towns along the Cape from Provincetown to Bourne, only now are reported getting back to normal, after emergency crews and volunteers have been busy for five days in restoring light and power and rushing food, ice and fuel.

Fight Hillman as New Deal Power

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—A group of well-known writers and other persons announced today they had organized a national committee to spearhead an active protest against what they described as the "brazen campaign of the Political Action Committee to install Sidney Hillman as the power-behind-the-throne of a fourth term Administration.

The organization is headed by Channing Pollock, playwright, and John W. Hanes, former Undersecretary of Treasury under the Roosevelt Administration, is treasurer. Other members include Louis Bromfield, Booth Tarkington, Kenneth Roberts, Rupert Hughes and Roy Chapman Andrews.

Fog Snags Auto

Losing his way today in the thick fog along Reservoir rd., Brookline, Perry W. Linscott, 29, of Riverside dr., Dedham, drove his car off the road and crashed against the retaining wall of Chestnut Hill reservoir.

He was found by police floundering in the knee-deep water where he had wandered in a daze after the crash. He was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton, where he was treated for shock and immersion.

Censors Not to Open Navy Men's Ballots

Lt. Com. Paul A. Dever, former Massachusetts attorney general, now supervising absentee balloting by naval personnel, said today Navy censors had been instructed to pass servicemen's ballots unopened and give them priority in the mails.

His statement came after a conference with Secretary of State Frederick W. Cook, in which they discussed complaints that ballots had been opened by censors.

SALEM, Sept. 19—Found unconscious on a Beverly highway, Mrs. Mary E. Morse, 52, of Lafayette st., died today at Beverly Hospital of injuries an autopsy revealed were consistent with her having been struck by an auto.

Investigators from Dist. Atty. Hugh A. Cregg's office were sent to Beverly.

The autopsy report by Dr. Whitman G. Stickney, medical examiner, said death was caused by a skull fracture and brain lacerations.

Churchill Morse, her husband, said he had last seen her when she left home at noon yesterday.

Film Star Hayward Quits Actor Husband

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 19 (INS)—The Steve Crane-Turhan Bey fisticuffs about Lana Turner were not the only repercussion of a party attended by many of filmdom's elite, Hollywood learned today.

SUSAN HAYWARD

Quits Mate After Film Party

As a result of an argument about going home from the same affair, Susan Hayward and Jess Barker, prominent screen players and one of movieland's most recently-wedded couples, have come to a parting of the ways.

The two stars, married July 23, separated in the early hours Sunday after Barker had left the party alone. Today the red-headed Miss Hayward was at the home of friends, and was said to be arranging an appointment with Atty. Sidney Justin, to decide on the future of her marriage.

Barker still is at their apartment.

"It all started out as a joke, then turned into something serious," Barker said. "Susan and I got into an argument about going home from the party. I got into the car and left alone. She returned to our apartment later, and soon after we separated."

Asked about the chances for a reconciliation, Barker said: "I wouldn't know."

Gift Ring Shown In Death Trial

An Allston salesman testified in Suffolk Superior Court today he gave a ring to the wife of Carl B. Boutelle, 51, of Millet st., Dorchester, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of his 38-year-old wife, Laura.

Ralph F. Hartley, 46, of Long ave., Allston, admitted the gift when Atty. William F. McGowan for the defense exhibited the ring during cross examination. He denied, however, he had an "understanding" with Mrs. Boutelle.

He said he gave her the ring in a Dorchester cafe, where he was with Mrs. Boutelle and another woman when Boutelle rushed in. He testified Boutelle grabbed his wife by the hair, punched her and dragged her to his car.

Runs in Family

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Sept. 19 (AP)—William De Moss called city police from Louisburg, Kan., told them he had been injured slightly in an auto accident. Would it be too much trouble to find his brother, Ray Lee De Moss, and ask him to come?

It wasn't any trouble at all. For at the desk that minute stood Ray Lee. But he wasn't at all sure he could go to his brother.

For he had come in, he said, to report he had just wrecked his car, too.

Hot Coal?

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Thirteen dealers have been compelled to remove from householders' cellars 204 tons of anthracite coal delivered in excess of the 50 per cent rule, which limits buying more than half the supply for the season to Oct. 1, the Solid Fuels Administration for War announced.

Robot Bombs Bring 'Spring'

LONDON, Sept. 19—Gardening experts and botanists are puzzled by the second spring which flying bombs have brought to one area of southern England, the Daily Mail says: Blast and the havoc the flying bombs cause have, in effect, started trees growing again and promise to produce autumn fruit in winter.

In the gardens of wrecked houses in one devastated area are trees which had been almost uprooted when the buildings were destroyed. One theory on this rebirth of the trees is that the effect of the blast is in some way akin to the "summer pruning" of fruit trees.

A gardening expert said that there are two forms of sap in trees, "fruit" and "foliage."

His explanation is that when the trees lost their leaves the fruit sap became operative and produced the blossom on apple trees.

Antonescu Faces Red War Trial

MOSCOW, Sept. 19 (AP)—With Romania's fallen dictator, Ion Antonescu, and a host of German overlords in the Balkans in Red hands, Russia today reminded her Allies that Axis war criminals must bear "full punishment for their monstrous crimes."

The Soviet press demanded "Germans of the new wars" be eradicated.

The Russian policy which, it is understood here, the United States and Britain will be asked to support fully, is two-fold:

1. A warning to all neutral countries that they must not afford asylum to Axis war criminals.

2. The arrest of all such criminals found in territory occupied by Allied armies.

they grow accustomed to the onrushing rivers of our soldiers and our masses of machinery and accept us with the stolidity of the peasant mind, which is surprised at nothing. So after a first burst of gratitude, they settle down in the back areas to gyp the boys a little.

Not that I mean to give the French, or any of our valiant allies, a bad character—but merely to report the vagaries of human nature. Still the U. S. command is doing what it can to preserve good will, and has posted every town in the back country with signs, "Off limits to troops."

The result is that the American doughboys with a few hours' leisure will have the choice of three—taking to the sack (sleeping), shooting the breeze (exchanging rough philosophy about food, women and drink), or swapping the flimsy (gambling with French wallpaper money).

It's a hedgehog's life, where the vision of a cold bottle of beer is equivalent to civilians' ideas of a summer vacation.

So this morning, in a milky fog, I went forward where some of the men were curled up in shallow pits covered with leafy branches. Several soldiers, seeing my correspondent's shoulder tab, stopped to talk, drawn by a hunger for fresh ideas and soaking up conversation like an oyster sucks up sludge.

Many had been wounded, healed and returned to the lines—like PFC (Acting Sgt.) Joseph Quinn of 171 Lowell st., Lawrence, only remaining man of a gun team, who wears a purple scar on his right temple and a purple ribbon on his tunic.

And S-Sgt. George H. Hamilton of 42 Hancock st., Stoneham, who escaped a sniper's bullet that went through the crown of his helmet, and machine gun fire that passed through the folds of his field jacket, and finally got nicked with what he terms a hunk o' sumpin'. Probably shrapnel.

And 2 Lt. Sam Dinerman of 360 Cabot st., Beverly (I knew him last winter in England), who was wounded on D-Day and has just taken command of his company after his C. O. was killed four days ago.

PFC Arthur R. Bregoli of 17 Boscobel st., South Braintree, a mortar man, "We can drop our shots in a barrel," who is the second oldest of six brothers (Louis is in Italy).

And Sgt. Charles R. Hankinson of 14 Beach View ter., Malden, who was with the same company in England when I spent last Christmas at their mess, and who is the nephew of Bill Hankinson of the American's printing staff.

Down a bushlined lane from which the troops had dislodged the enemy only last night, there were PFC Walter J. Myskiew, Boston Post rd., Hillsgrove, R. I., a wireman who lately married Mary Reynolds of England.

And PFC Edward J. Corrigan of 46 Norwich ave., Providence, a company messenger who has gotten steadily grayer since he used to help his dad lay bricks.

And PFC Clinton C. Crocker of 19 Lincoln st., Lynn, a communications man, who had a narrow escape from Nazi shrapnel in the early hours of the morning. (Ed. note—He was eating pasteboard rations. This position was too far forward for the rolling kitchens.)

And S-Sgt. Bradford J. Kempf of 61 Myrtle ave., Webster, a medical man who incongruously was a former undertaker at the Pike Funeral Home, and who recently had his advanced aid station cut off by German attack until the doughboys countered with bayonets.

And PFC Frank C. Mello of 188 Palmer st., Fall River, who got comfort from the knowledge he'd bagged three Jerries a few days earlier and who used to live placidly, a dairyman for John St. Germaine.

And S-Sgt. Edward T. Shoney of 317 High st., Lowell (one of the few Lowellites left from the original 35 in E Co. headquarters), who had recently dropped three Germans with a captured machine gun, and who had worked for his uncle Ed Cowley's coal company.

And PFC John S. O'Connor of 102 Lincoln st., Springfield, a former movie operator, and Pvt. Norman J. Payette of 85 Austin st., Lowell, an orderly, who used to live at the home of his sister, Mrs. Florence Thideau, and has lost 10 of his original 142 pounds. (Ed. Note—These men at the front don't get as much liquid as they require and hence dehydrate, i.e. dry out. A few days back in the rear and they absorb the needed moisture and regain their normal weight.)

PFC Lawrence D. Allard of 597 River st., Fitchburg, an exupholsterer for Selig Manufacturing, who wore a two weeks' fringe of black beard like the horsehair he used to stuff into his davenports.

And PFC Walter S. Bolonis, a 147-pounder who carries a mortar barrel almost as tall as he is.

And Sgt. Alex J. Paer of 28 May st. (Christmas Hill), Lowell, whose third wedding anniversary with Helen (Woods) was Aug. 31, and who has had none of them at home yet.

And S-Sgt. Gerard E. Thies (pronounced Thees) of 22 Hayes rd., Roslindale, who lived with his sister, Mrs. George M. Neely, and worked for Emil Coulon before the Navy took the Westminster Hotel.

And S-Sgt. Joe J. Addorio of 18 Russell st., Portsmouth, who is getting his reports regularly from Rita Rousseau.

Schools

Andrews, principal of the largest school, the High School of Commerce. Andrews, who has been a beloved figure in the school department for many years, said:

"When I noted unrest in the schoolrooms yesterday I addressed all classes through the loudspeaker system. I pointed out our old school had 44 Gold Star pupils, who had gone to war and lost their lives. Those boys would not have liked to see their former schoolmates on strike."

Cafeteria conditions at the High School of Commerce have been cited by the strikers as justification for finding fault. Their principal said:

"Yes, it's true, our lunchroom facilities are inadequate. The building is 73 years old. There just isn't room for our 2462 students all to eat in the short time they are allowed.

"Many of the boys have war jobs to which they go from school," he added. "They need hot meals they can't get here."

Supt of Schools Power, backed by the school committee and the Parent-Teacher Ass'n would not budge regarding the lengthened school day. He stated:

"It was absolutely necessary to add an hour to the school day because of the Army's physical fitness program. We devote 90 minutes a day, two study periods, to the physical program. As a result we have dropped behind Grade-A high school standards and the extra hour was added so we might get back to them."

The strikers' first demonstration today was in front of city hall at 8 a. m., where 100 policemen were on guard. They arrested a girl and five boys. The strikers immediately held a mass meeting on the Common, then headed for the police station, but decided against rushing it. They flaunted effigies of Power and bore printed signs containing their sentiments.

"Throw Power Out," read the placard on one effigy of him. Another ran, "If Our Fathers Got Their Educations in Shorter Hours, Why Can't We?"

Nor was all the sentiment directed against longer hours. One bobby-soxer carried a sign which demanded, "Less Homework!"

A tall youth dressed in rug-cutter garb bore a sign reading, "We Want Better Service in the Cafeteria." A shorty, who gained notice for his placard by attaching it to a rake handle held high, was carrying the stern notice, "We Want a New School Committee."

The strikers moved off in the direction of the High School of Commerce, where 2900 of them had walked out shortly after 1 p. m. yesterday. They had heard a small number of "scabs" were at their desks.

But police stood at the entrance, their arms folded and their feet far apart in stances the strikers decided were ominous. The mob moved off for the other high schools to investigate reports their ranks had been thinned by weaklings.

At the other schools, North South and Classical high schools, police were also stationed.

The school committee will hold a special meeting tonight. One of the subjects due for discussion is the assertion of strike leaders they are supported by their teachers, who have asked for higher pay in view of longer hours.

Gift Drive Aided By War Widow

A World War II widow, whose husband was shot down over Kiel, Germany, leaving her with a six-months-old daughter, wants to make some lonely serviceman happy by sending him a Christmas gift.

"I would like to send a Christmas box to some serviceman for I know how my husband looked forward to Christmas presents last year," wrote Mrs. Esther Feingold of Wyoming st., Roxbury, as she enrolled in the Christmas Gifts for Buddies Overseas campaign.

"I don't care what branch of the service he may be in," she continued, "for we have two brothers in the Navy and some good friends in the Marines and Merchant Marine."

Hers is one of hundreds of similar letters being received by the Boston American, Record and Sunday Advertiser in its drive to assure that no lonely serviceman will be neglected on Christmas Day.

The time is running short, too, for Oct. 15 is the deadline which postal authorities have set for the mailing of Christmas packages to all branches of the armed forces in overseas service.

Senders also should be careful to conform with postal regulations on overseas packages. Christmas packages for servicemen overseas must weigh no more than five pounds, so your package will be returned if it does not meet this requirement, and the luckless serviceman will be empty-handed on Christmas Day.

The true Christmas spirit was experienced by Helen M. Brown of Pearl st., Medford, she wrote today in enrolling for the second time in the campaign.

"Last year my package was received by a 19-year-old Coast Guardsman," she wrote.

"My husband is in the Southwest Pacific and I'm happy to know that he won't be neglected on this most important day. But I want to make some other serviceman happy, too, who might otherwise receive no gift on Christmas."

Thank Him

DEAR MRS BEECKMAN: When a boy pays a girl a compliment, what should she reply? A GIRL.

The girl should accept the compliment with grace, saying, "Thank you," or "Thank you so much, Bob . . . how nice of you to say so," or "Thank you. I'm so glad you like my dress, and I'm proud to have you say so." And a girl should not be so notbright as to look at the boy in blank amazement, or tell him he's "all wrong," or quickly change the subject. If she says or does such stupid things, she makes his remark sound stupid, or insincere. His "pretty speech" should be acknowledged graciously.

Ageless Skin Easy Now

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

THIS IS ONE for the books. We've always held to the conviction that a dried out, peeled skin with a few wrinkles here and there . . . the antithesis of the ageless complexion . . . is a thirsty skin craving the softening renewal of herbal oils . . . but not so long ago our belief registered conclusively. And, of all people, the guinea pig was yours truly.

We make it routine to have cream applied to the face . . . from the forehead to the chin . . . after a hair set and while sitting under the dryer to combat the heat's filching of our complexion's precious natural oils. Recently, after a respite at the beach . . . and a prolonged basking session in the sun . . . we sought, because we needed it and how, the beauty reformation of a salon.

Imagine our discomposure when the girl creaming our "fame and fortune" possession bluntly said: "Your skin is eating this up, gobs and gobs of it. Has your skin been through a wringer?" No question she was right. Our skin was so thirsty from having had such a sunning that it was lapping up the cream like a thirsty dog after a long run.

REPLENISHING OIL OF 16 HERBS

Dehydration may be a grand process for food conservation . . . but don't let your complexion try it. You'll find your laugh lines droop to your mouth . . . the corners of your eyes are networks of lace . . . and your skin is tighter than a drum. Pronto we knew we needed a corrective treatment of a concentrated replenishing oil of 16 herbs . . . blended to enrich the skin and give it that much needed oiling for the coveted ageless look. Just a few drops of it do the trick.

Repeated treatment worked real miracles for us . . . and we know this medicinal infusion of 16 succulent parts of herbs expertly blended into an easily spreading oil to supplement nature's deficiency in the skin can do the same for you. Warm it slightly and use it with the cleansing cream for a night treatment. Let the herbal oil literally sink in overnight . . . or keep it on during the day while you're humming while you housework . . . and after a time you'll be able to match your face with any school girl's complexion.

For the name of this herbal oil to keep your complexion ageless, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A COMPLEXION OF DOVE-SKIN smoothness is every woman's wish . . . but we know of no woman who ever achieved a wrinkle-free, ageless skin without putting words into action. Paulette Goddard is just plain gorgeous . . . but there's nothing that says we stay-at-home gals can't make a try at being just as beautiful. Use of a 16-herb replenishing oil could be a good starter.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Monday Yesterday we had a picnic lunch, and I was reminded of a trip many years ago when I spent a week on an island up in the Adirondacks. We cooked entirely out-of-doors, our stove being some stones conveniently arranged to shelter a fire and support our pots and pans.

Somehow our food seemed better than food usually does when cooked in the most convenient of kitchens. Perhaps it was because we had to row two miles for our supplies; by the time we had them and rowed back, and had done other chores around our little island and its tents, whatever we had to eat tasted like food for the gods.

Here our picnics are pretty simple to arrange, with a built-in grill and everything conveniently at hand.

SLEEPING on a porch in comfortable beds certainly can't compare, either, with gathering pine boughs and spreading out one's sleeping bag under a tree. There is always the chance of rain during the night, of course, but otherwise there isn't any more comfortable bed in the world.

Nor is there any more delicious smell than the odor of pine under you in the woods, when you wake up at night and look straight into the sky with the stars gleaming.

I HAVE JUST received a letter which reminds me that one of the war needs most difficult to fill, in all large cities, is lodging for the families of officers and men. They may be only a few days in a city, but hotels and boarding houses are crowded.

Washington and New York have each handled this problem very efficiently, I think. Chicago has a really delightful officers' club.

Make Fine Sauces

By MARTHA LEE

A GOOD SAUCE brings the flavor of foods into focus. It makes a well cooked dish taste even better. But home cooking has rarely had the benefit of sauces. Perhaps it is the high sounding foreign names of most of these concoctions that make basic sauce-making seem too much like too expensive for the average home. Fortunately, neither impression is correct.

Most sauces are easy to make and pay more than repay their cost in heightened flavor. Many are important ingredients in many famous sauces.

WHITE WINE NO. 1.

(For Fish)

1 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 grated onion, browned
½ tsp. dry mustard
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1 cup solid-pack canned tomatoes or stewed fresh tomatoes ½ tsp. sugar
1 cup white table wine
Salt and pepper to taste
1 tbsp. sweet pickle relish

Saute the onion in the butter. (Include part of the green top.) Add mustard, sugar, lemon juice, tomato and wine. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Let simmer 15 to 20 minutes. Add sweet pickle relish, heat again and serve with fish cakes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

WHITE WINE SAUCE NO. 2

(For Fish)

1 tbsp. flour
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
½ cup water 1 tsp. sherry
½ cup white table wine
1 cup milk ½ tsp. salt

Stir flour into melted butter, add water, wine and milk gradually and cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly until mixture is smooth and thickened; add salt and sherry. A dash of cayenne may be added if desired. Serve with fish. Makes 2 cups sauce.

Fish Cakes Served With White Wine Sauce.

ANCHOVY SAUCE

2 tbsp. anchovy paste
1 cup melted butter
1-4 cup dry sherry

Dissolve anchovy paste in melted butter, gradually stir in sherry. Heat to boiling point and simmer 5 minutes, or until sauce thickens slightly, stirring vigorously. Serve with cold halibut, pimiod oysters, veal or pork chops, boiled or baked chicken. Makes 1 1-3 cups sauce.

SAUCE BRETONNE

2 medium-sized onions, sliced
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
½ cup wine ½ tsp. salt
2 cups tomato sauce
½ tsp. chili powder
¼ tsp pepper Dash of cayenne

Saute onions in butter until browned. Add wine, cover and simmer until wine is half gone. Add tomato sauce and seasonings, blend well and simmer 7 minutes. Serve with baked or broiled fish. Makes 2 cups sauce.

RED WINE SAUCE

½ onion, chopped
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
½ tbsp. flour, browned
1 tsp. prepared mustard
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
½ cup bouillon
½ cup Burgundy wine

Brown onion slowly in butter in saucepan. Add flour, mustard and Worcestershire sauce. Mix well, then add bouillon and stir until smooth. Blend in wine. Serve with roast or any red meat. Makes about 1 cup sauce—6 servings.

Plum Shades Are Popular

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THERE are quite a lot of choice plums to be picked up by girls amassing their fall wardrobes, for this color is a favorite with big designers. Plum red in its dark, light and purplish shades can be seen in some of the nicest dresses, suits and coats of the new season. There is also a greenish yellow "Green Gage Plum" around in limited quantities.

Anthony Blotta, one of our designers who has the nicest color sense, uses deep-red plum shades to make some of his models. He likes to combine, for instance, a plum-colored dress with a pink jacket, or one in vivid lemon yellow, with mighty pleasing results. One of his dresses in the dark plum shades is sketched. This is a very simple daytime dress with really grand details like the curved, tucked yoke and the hip band, both making for expert fitting and smoothness.

A New Love

Regina Diane Tedesco, 2-year-old, of Worthington st., Roxbury, has a new love—a little 2-weeks-old mongrel puppy which came to her from the Angell Memorial Hospital . . . and makes her feel that there is something to National Dog Week now being observed.

End the War VICTORIOUSLY
Make the Peace PERMANENTLY
Bring Our Boys Home PROMPTLY

SLANGUAGE

WILLIAM T. MURPHY, an authority on modern dancing and ballroom manners, recently reported hearing one zoot-suiter say to another:

"Honest, that bree (girl) was a hip (attractive, good dancer) but a mess (talented). We took the first ride (difficult dance in perfect time) at nine chimes (9 o'clock) and a little later it was trickeration (strutting in pseudo-polite manner) for two. Before we cut out (left the dance floor) a gasser (sensational dancer) laid some iron (did a tap dance routine) with his boots on (knew the rhythm). And look at me, just a confron! (one who has fantastic dance ideas impossible to execute)."

The parenthetical translations are included in the monologue for the benefit of persons who still speak English.

With a global war to win and extremely serious problems ahead, it is a national disgrace that young people in America are wasting their time and talents on such linguistic nonsense.

A little of the effort given to the acquisition of this silly gibberish would enable most youngsters to use their own language correctly and to become reasonably fluent in Spanish, French or some other foreign tongue that would assist them later on in the business of earning a living.

Teachers particularly should be disturbed by the growing popularity of jitterbug slanguage.

Parents and taxpayers are apt to look upon it as proof that public school language departments are doing their job so badly that ingenious children are encouraged to devise their own means of communication.

OUR BEST FRIENDS

THIS IS National Dog Week, and all Americans are urged to show a little added kindness to "man's best friend."

No sermonizing is required to induce persons who have benefited by the affection of dogs to participate in the observance, for millions know from happy experience that the late Senator George Graham Vest spoke accurately when he said:

"The one, absolute, unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog."

This year we have another reason to appreciate the canine population.

Dogs are serving on every battlefront of the war, helping our fighting sons win victories and saving the lives of thousands of lads.

Let us hope the public appreciation will be sufficiently great and sincere to put a stop to the unspeakably brutal practices of vivisectionists in Massachusetts and other States.

Until we have laws making the butchery of living dogs a criminal offense, National Dog Week celebrations will always fall short of their noble purposes.

Never was there a better or more appropriate time for members of legislatures to sponsor statutes eliminating vivisection in all its vicious forms.

COPY-CAT AGAIN

NEW YORK predicts that women's hats are going to be bigger and taller, not unlike the fantastic headgear the ladies of Paris were found wearing on the occasion of their liberation.

Some of the hats will be so suggestive of the Italian Renaissance that our wives and sisters will resemble Dante's Beatrice.

Why can't our American milliners be original? Must they always borrow from other countries or delve into the past?

Surely the country whose ingenuity has saved civilization ought to be able to create a brand new hat.

Who is currently considered America's sweetheart? Have seen no recent references to this title. I suggest it be bestowed on Frances Langford. The way that little lady, with a fine disregard for safety and comfort, has been flying around the world to entertain our fighting men certainly rates her some kind of a title.

PLEASE NOTE: Audax Minor. That's the nom de plume of the turf expert of the New Yorker. Some name, what? Has the aristocratic sporting touch of the British turf. Meeting a fellow with a monicker like that is enough to give a man with a name like Ed Curley or Clem McCarthy an inferiority complex. Good old Audax, who was the last man in Manhattan to wear a paddock overcoat, rarely wanders far from Belmont Park. When he goes to Aqueduct or Jamaica he considers that slumming. Anyway, Audax took a trip to Garden State Park, Camden, N. J., recently and was lavish in his praise as to the innovations there designed for the comfort of the customers. Audax should have mentioned that Eugene Mori, in building Garden State Park, followed out many ideas originated by Bing Crosby at Del Mar and Dr. Strub at Santa Anita in California.

PROPOSALS: Asked what he thought of women doing the proposing during leap year, Dr. Paul Popence said: "The woman who is not clever enough to maneuver a man into a position where he will propose might not be clever enough to hold a man after she got one." (Note - How did your wife maneuver you into a position to propose? If our Mules & Men Department could get the details of a few good systems of inspiring proposals, it might be of assistance to some of our female clients who are having difficulty in getting a man in the proper mood to discuss matrimony.)

ASIDES: A young matron writes: "You have expressed wonderment as to why so few people are married in May. So I asked the parson about the superstition concerning May marriages. He said: 'You are the only couple married in May in this church for years because May is the mating month for jackasses'" . . . A Scot disputes my statement that the world's most beautiful street is the Champs Elysees in Paris. He says that distinction belongs to Princess st., Edinburgh. I have never been in Edinburgh, so cannot argue with him. Maybe I shouldn't have popped off until I had seen all the famous streets. What is your nomination?

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Why do you call your wife your "girl friend?" It causes confusion in the minds of your readers. A—It has caused no confusion in the minds of the majority of readers . . . Q—In what period were birds on women's hats in style? A—All I know is the song "The Bird on Nellie's Hat" was written in 1907. So the girls must have been wearing that type of hat at that time.

NEW YORKER SAYS: "I remember seeing Lily Lantry at Nablo's Garden on Broadway. That is about 65 years ago. How is that for being an old time New Yorker? Know anybody who can beat it?" . . . Gen. Omar Nelson Bradley is said to excel at poker and chess. As a young man he was a good baseball player. You could hardly get a better combination of games to aid in the developing of generalship in a man. Incidentally, the playing of baseball and football in younger days and poker and chess later can be of great assistance in developing ability as a business executive.

PASSING BY: Monty Woolley, bearded thespian. Is claimed if a shy, clean shaven man grows a beard it will make him bold and masterful. Only clean shaven fellow I have known who bettered himself by growing a beard was "Man Mountain" Dean. As a clean shaven boxer he never made much progress, but when he grew a beard and became a wrestler he soon found himself in the money. Incidentally, when Clark Gable was asked to wear a beard in a film he declined, saying: "Beards are not romantic. Women don't like them."

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1944, King Features Synd., Inc.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 19—This being my first campaign trip with a Presidential candidate, I thought you might like to see things through my fresh, eager young eyes and you may be sure that I am being very alert lest the same thing doesn't happen again that happened when I covered my first World Series.

Westbrook Pegler

That was the memorable Cincinnati thing in which my fresh eager young eyes and my fresh eager young nose, as well, discerned nothing but some stirring baseball contests, although all the gamblers in Cincinnati were talking about a fix and one night Ring Lardner went through the train on the way to Chicago singing "I'm Forever Throwing Ball Games."

As you probably know, Governor Dewey and Mrs. Dewey are living in a private car called the David Livingstone on the rear end of the train. It is just like the car that President Roosevelt uses when he goes out on his non-political inspection tours, the name of which, however, I suppose I shouldn't mention for reasons of security, although I don't believe any rule of censorship forbids.

The only others in this car are Paul Lockwood, Dewey's secretary, and Frank Hnida, a New York detective who served with Dewey when he was prosecuting the rackets and nowadays guards him whenever he visits New York.

There are two others in the party, Lt. William Green of the New York State Police, who has been detailed as the Governor's personal guard through several administrations, and Sgt. Alvin Johnson, also of the state cops.

LT. GEN. HUGH DRUM, commander of the New York Guard, lives in one of the regular Pullmans and goes ashore, as we say, at all the stops, dressing these occasions with his three stars, his military bearing and his four rows of decorations and service ribbons, but, being a retired Army officer, he must be, like Mr. Roosevelt, in his role of Commander-in-Chief, strictly non-political.

We don't see very much of Mr. Dewey because he is back there driving away on those important speeches of the next few days and, anyway, he isn't as gregarious as some. I forgot to ask how much social contact the reporters had with Mr. Roosevelt when he was in politics and actually campaigning in the conventional sense, but my roommate, Tom Stokes, tells me that Wendell Willkie used to prowl the cars at all hours and drop in and throw a leg over the arm of a seat and visit and then go on to the next open door and so forth.

He also made a lot of tailboard talks in places where the train stopped for a few minutes and some think Dewey makes a mistake not to do likewise, because the little crowds might get sore and go away and spread the word that he is a heel, while others say Willkie really talked too much.

I usually get around in the crowds to try to hear what they are saying, but the results aren't worth noting because I haven't heard any strong expressions one way or another. Apparently they just want a look at the fellow. I did notice, however, that Mr. Dewey's remark as he drives through the crowds is just "How do," "How do," repeated over and over as he bows left and right and Mr. Stokes tells me Mr. Coolidge used to say "Howdy," "Howdy."

WE HAVE TWO Negro reporters among us, Julius Adams of the Amsterdam News, a New York weekly published up in Harlem, and Ralph Matthews, of the Afro-American, of Washington, D. C., which is really a chain of Negro papers operating in five cities. Matthews was out with Wilkie part of the way, but I am told that this is the first time two Negro reporters have gone all the way with a candidate.

These are two very nice fellows and, although I haven't seen their copy, they talk in the manner of real professionals and, of course, you aren't conversing two minutes before you are on topic A, meaning race relations, and there you stay.

But the nature of these talks is the first encouragement that I have found in a long time to hope that we might get by without that gory brawl between white men and Negroes which the Communists are constantly trying to promote for just after the war. These men realize that they have a power to take some of the heat off the issue and probably save lives and still accomplish the result of opening up jobs for Negro workers, and it all seems reasonable and feasible when you just sit down and meet as men and colleagues in a business and begin to understand each other, instead of beating one another over the head with mealaxe editorials as total strangers on opposite sides of town.

This sounds so much like something from my old friend, Mrs. R., that some editors are likely to think the Western Union got the copy balled up, but just the same this acquaintance and understanding is new experience to me and I recommend it.

Hollywood . . . By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 19—The women psychiatrists are having a field day in Hollywood — I mean in the movies, of course. First, Ingrid Bergman donned a white surgeon's coat in "Spellbound" and now comes Rosalind Russell to play a busy woman psychiatrist in "Some Call It Love." 'Tis a comedy, written especially for her, with Virginia Van Upp as the producer.

Rosalind Russell

I had thought Rosalind was going to make "Sister Kenny" next, but it seems when she moves to RKO for the "Kenny" picture it will take months, because of the many scenes involved. Roz was eager to do a comedy first, after her months in "Roughly Speaking" at Warners.

EDWARD G. GOLDEN, who made the box office ring with the merry jingle of much coin in "Hitler's Children," has another exciting idea. He has purchased, through the Myron Selznick office, "F. B. I. in Peace and War" by Frederick L. Collins, well known magazine writer, with a frontispiece by J. Edgar Hoover. Of course, it's all going to be very official, J. Edgar will give approval to the movie script, and Robert Golden, producer, goes to Washington for conferences. Frederick Collins is adapting his own story.

THE EXPERIMENT of having Jeanette MacDonald sing in the neuro-psychiatric ward of Sawtelle Veterans' Hospital was tremendously successful. She was the first of the picture stars to appear in this ward and she sang for 40 minutes, accompanied by Richard Hageman. When she went in their faces were blank and lifeless. But before she left they looked like different human beings, and she had them sing "The Donkey Serenade" along with her. The hospital sent her a little note, saying: "Only we can estimate the enormous amount of good you have done."

JUST HEARD that Mayo Methot (Mrs. Humphrey Bogart) has been hospitalized for a few days. She is only in for a check-up, however, and at the end of the week will rejoin Bogey on their boat at Newport. While Warners will not do anything about returning him to the studio until "God Is My Co-Pilot" is finished, I still maintain he will do the picture for Howard Hawks. I understand Hawks now has the story and it is a mystery novel, "The Big Fleet."

The spontaneity with which the fan magazine sob-sisters are weeping for Barbara and Cary testifies to the couple's recently won popularity in Hollywood . . . But it also yells aloud to people of the press about the danger of a months-ahead deadline . . . WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—If I were only drunk or under the influence of laughing gas it wouldn't be so bad, but I am stone cold sober. And yet I keep seeing this thing in front of me.

No matter how many times I read it over it comes out the same. I have tried incantations and conjuration but it won't go away. What I think I see is a release from the Department of the Interior which begins as follows- minus any preamble to cushion the shock:

"Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes today issued the following statement:

"And Absalom rose up early, and stood beside the way of the gate; and it was so that when any man that had a controversy came to the king for judgment, then Absalom called unto him, and said, of what city art thou? And he said, thy servant is of one of the tribes of Israel.

"And Absalom said unto him, see, thy matters are good and right; but there is no man deputed of the king to hear thee.

"Absalom said moreover, oh that I were made judge in the land, that every man which hath any suit or cause might come unto me, and I would do him justice!"

I CONTEND that Ickes shouldn't be allowed to do this to me. Not in my weekened condition. How would you like to pick up what purports to be an official governmental announcement and get smacked in the kisser with Absalom?

I tell you it is soul-shaking. Here you are, trying dutifully to cover the latest developments in Washington and what do you learn?

That Secretary Ickes has come out against Absalom!

I suppose the next thing he will be doing is organize anti-Absalom clubs all over the country. I certainly don't know what Absalom ever did to Ickes except get his head caught in an oak tree so that Joab could skewer him with darts.

I don't think it could be jealousy because I am almost certain that if Joab were around today he would be glad to do as much for Ickes.

★ ★ ★

THIS RELEASE of the Interior Secretary covers three pages of valuable white paper and it is not until you get down quite a way that you discover Harold is really taking a crack at Gov. Dewey.

Dewey delivered a criticism of the Jackson Hole monument in Wyoming, saying that the project was "characteristic of the New Deal and its lack of responsibility for the rights and opinions of the people affected."

The Jackson Holers have been up in arms for months because the vast area has been exempt from tax levies, thereby depleting local community coffers.

Ickes said that any criticism about the project should not be directed at the New Deal because the parties responsible for the monument were Calvin Coolidge, Herbert Hoover and John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

He worked in the Absalom analogy by saying Dewey was willing to enter judgment on any complaint against the Administration, even without hearing the evidence.

★ ★ ★

IN HIS EARLIER years Ickes tried his hand at the newspaper business. But editors failed to clamor for his services. After seeing how he backs into this one I do not greatly wonder.

In fact, if any reporter ever attempted such a journalistic trick he would be lucky to get off as lightly as Absalom. His editor wouldn't wait for him to get snagged in a tree.

RECENTLY I employed the expression "crum-bum." I have just received the following from a party who signs himself "Mr. Crum of Los Angeles:"

"It may interest you to know that there are 37 persons listed in the Los Angeles phone book for 1944 whose surname is Crum. This, no doubt, applies all over the United States. Do you suggest that people with that name should change it — or what? I like your column, however."

The only thing I can say in my defense is that "crum-bum" is an expression I picked up from Mr. Toots Shor, New York restaurateur. And he uses it only as a term of affection.

In the space of 15 minutes I heard him apply "crum-bum," in his most loving way, to such important personages as:

Adolph Menjou, Bill Corum, Horace Stoneham, Mrs. Adela Rogers St. Johns, George Kenny, Dan Parker, Lt. Col. Charles MacArthur, Joe E. Lewis, Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, and Miss Gertrude Niesen, the actress.

However, I shall strive to make it a point hereafter not to listen to Mr. Shor, because I do not want to hurt the feelings of the Los Angeles Crums, or the Crums wherever found. Honest, I didn't mean nothin' by it!

Listen, Shor, you big crum-bum, you!

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—With European peace in the air, the night club military strategists concentrate on "how long before Germany gives up?" All the bet-makers have their favorite dates, and the crystal gazers have theirs and all the fellows-who-know-a-fellow-who-knows-Eisenhower have theirs. And nobody knows anything, of course, and those who have service flags in their windows don't guess at all, but only hope. It must be history repeating itself.

Eddie Cantor

It must have been much like this in September, 1918. So many things are the way they must have been then. On Broadway, especially. The theater is booming. The night spots are crowded, as they were a quarter of a century ago.

★ ★ ★

I WAS FAR from Broadway then. I lived in a town called Indianapolis, Ind., just around the corner from James Whitcomb Reilly's house on a shady street, and the word "war" meant no more to me than "patty cake."

But I have often wondered what it was like in the Big Town in those days. You think perhaps September, 1945, will be much like September, 1918. Do you remember that September? It was like this:

THE STEM was "hot" and Variety headlined: "Ready Money Flowing Into Broadway Box Offices" . . . The country was humming "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles" . . . Ziegfeld, starring the swoon singer of the day, John Steel, had his "Follies" at the Amsterdam Theater and he enjoined Eddie Cantor from appearing in any other entertainment . . . After 15 years of prosperity the Avon Comedy Four was breaking up.

AFL meaning Actor's Fidelity League had just elected George M. Cohan president . . . Vitagraph was about to move from Brooklyn to Los Angeles . . . Ethel Levey was due from London . . . Leon Errol turned down $3750 a week in London to return to this country . . . Eight show premieres were scheduled to one week . . . Variety printed these rules on "How to Be Happy on Broadway": "Walk fast. Wear blinders. Don't stop to argue with anybody" . . . Gen. Pershing was John Golden's guest at "Lightnin'," in its second year at the Gaiety . . . Ty Cobb, as usual, led both leagues in bat-

Smart Set Visits George Wests

By BETTY ALDEN

BACK HOME in the United States after four years abroad, Mrs. T. Desmond Butler, (Dorothy West) former Hub debutante, is just in time for the wedding of her brother, Lt. Eric West, and Miss Eugenia Lovett scheduled for later this week in New Haven.

Dorothy was the first Boston society girl to have a romantic overseas wedding in the present war. At the time her engagement to Capt. Butler was announced plans were in the making for a fashionable Boston wedding but the war upset all that. Capt. Butler, a native of Somerset, England, and a member of the Royal Welsh Fusiliers, was stationed in South Africa where Dorothy went to be married. She remained there for several years doing volunteer war work and spent last winter at her husband's home in Wales.

Mrs. T. Desmond Butler

She and her son, George, are visiting at the New Hampshire estate of her parents, the George S. Wests.

COL. AND MRS. AUGUSTUS THORNDIKE, the Charles Thorndikes, Mrs. Charles Cotting, Mrs. Lyneham Crocker and daughter Eunice were among the Bostonians spending the week-end in Virginia for the wedding of Alice Amory Winslow, former Boston deb, and Lt. Everard Kidder Meade, Jr., USA. The ceremony took place in Millwood, Va., present home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Winslow Sommaripa, formerly of Boston.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. William Payne

ROUND AND ABOUT—After a reunion with family and friends in Beverly Farms, Lt. and Mrs. George C. Clement (Anne Sortwell) and two youngsters are off again for Louisiana where Lt. Clement is stationed. Home from duty in So. America, Lt John Graham, USNR, former president of the Hasty Pudding Club, is spending a leave with his wife, Barbara, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Putnam, at Manchester.

Somewhere in India Lt. William H. Allison, USA, of Wellesley, will soon be hearing the good news that he is the father of a son born Sept. 15 at Newton Hospital. Mrs. Allison is the former Helen J. Taplin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Taplin of Wellesley.

MISS KATRYNA PARMENTER of New York will become the bride of Ens. Thomas Hadley, USNR, son of Mrs. Thomas Hadley of Cambridge, according to announcement by her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Dana of New York.

Browder Defies House Probers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (INS)—Earl Browder, head of the disbanded American Communist party and now president of the Communist Political Ass'n, refused today to divulge before Congress identities of CPA members active in the CIO Political Action Committee.

Browder shook his head when he was asked by Rep. Brown (R.) of Ohio, of the House campaign funds investigating committee, to name Communists who belong to the PAC headed by Sidney Hillman.

"I would not answer that question," Browder told the campaign committee of which Rep. Anderson (D.) of New Mexico, is chairman.

"Did you say you would not, or could not?" asked Brown.

"I said I would not," replied Browder. "Every American must answer for himself about his political convictions and actions."

Browder said CPA has a yearly income of $160,000 to $200,000 but its function is "political education" without any campaign fund.

More JVA Units In New Drive

A spearhead of Junior Victory Army boys and girls were in the field last week-end beginning their all-out drive to collect milkweed pods for life jackets. Many more JVA corps plan to begin their collections this week in after-school hours, letters received at JVA headquarters reveal.

A plea for all JVA corps to enter the campaign was issued yesterday by A. F. MacDougall, U. S. Department of Agriculture extension worker.

"For many years the United States has used kapok, a silky, seed-pod fiber, for filler in life jackets. Only in Java are there plantations where large quantities of kapok could be obtained.

"Milkweed floss is the best material sufficiently waterproof and buoyant to use in life vests. This is why large quantities of it are so urgently needed.

"The floss in two bags of milkweed pods fills a life jacket. Your collection, though small, may help save a life."

Superintendents of schools in every Massachusetts community have been sent particulars on collecting the milkweed, and many of them have established local stations for its storing. Details on caring for the gathered pods will appear in JVA articles later this week.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin, well wrapped in your letter.

Great Barrington Fair Hits New High

By JACK CONWAY

GREAT BARRINGTON, Sept. 19—A day at the Great Barrington Fair.

There is gold in the Berkshires. Eddie Carroll's gem race track, situated in the heart of the Berkshires with mountains as a background, handled $98,236 on the opening day of a week's racing program.

This was against a mark of $67,258 for the same day a year ago. It looks as if Great Barrington's record of $515,000 for six days of racing will be shattered by at least $150,000.

Judge Granfield

Greetings from Justice Bill Murray of the New York Supreme Court who lives in Albany. Remember B11? He used to play tackle for Williams and starred in games against Dartmouth and Harvard. He is still a perfect physical specimen and came to Great Barrington with Judge McNamara of Albany to see the races.

I asked Judge Murray if he had $2 on C. G. Hill's Semi Duck who paid $98.40 when he won the eighth race. The Justice declared he had been backing Jockey Briggs horses up to that race, but ended up wagering on a thoroughbred that finished out of the money.

Jockey Patrick Connolly, an 18-year-old youngster, had a big day. He rode three winners, Claro, Argos and Safety Light. This youngster displayed plenty of riding ability and he should be heard from later at the big tracks. Jock Mower who rode for some of the better racing stables won with Wadedale.

The racing plant was dolled up for the opening. The rail was painted white and the posts red. The posts in the paddock were painted red with white stalls and red and green awnings. The grandstand was also freshly painted while the boxes all of which were reserved were adorned with red, white and blue bunting. There were a score of American flags flying. Up here in the heart of the Berkshires they give 100 percent attention to the American flag. The youngsters from this section of the country are today fighting on all of the battle fields of the world.

Horse Show as Preview

A SUNDAY horse show attended by 8300 persons was sort of a preview for Monday racing. William J Granfield of Springfield, a former member of Congress, members of his family and a party of friends, were at the horse show. Judge Granfield was pleased when his selections of winners agreed with those made by the judges. Judge Granfield is a Notre Dame graduate. He scored 14 field goals for 28 points when playing for the Irish against Rose Polytechnic at South Bend on Feb 8, 1913. This record was discovered by one of Vic Wall's able Springfield sports writers.

Eugene Kenneally, secretary to Congressman John W. McCormack took in the opening day of racing. As the "Right eye" of the Majority Leader of the House, Kenneally has been one of the most active secretaries in the Capital for several years. He has been very helpful to Congressman McCormack. Arthur Burtnett and Joe O'Brien of the A. B. C. Commission were also numbered among the 5000 folk who watched the racing.

On the afternoon of the horse show Judge Granfield introduced me to his friend Probate Judge Stapleton of Springfield who was also interested in seeing the show horses perform. Eddie Carroll told one of the show horses was valued at $4500.

Races on the Air

THE COMPLETE eight race card was put on the air by Dan Healy, who is the Babe Rubenstein of this part of the country. The broadcast was over WBRK of Pittsfield.

This writer acted as presiding steward with Dr. Eugene Bradley, Jim Hickey and Dick Brusie as associate stewards. John Bowdich of Framingham acted as steward for the Massachusetts Racing Commission. Bob Frend, starter at Suffolk Downs and Rockingham Park, held a similar post here. For the first time Great Barrington had an electrical starting gate. This speeded up the races.

Dan Carroll and Mrs. Carroll were quite proud of the success scored by their son Eddie. The latter's wife occupied a box with a party of friends.

Jimmy Joyce of the Berkshire Inn trying to pick long shots.

Racing Secretary Jimmie Picarillo says there are more than 200 horses on the grounds and that he will not experience difficulty in staging eight races a day. With fair weather the mutuel handle for the week, will go close to $700,000.

Tigers Tackle Yankees

Detroit's Tigers, the hottest club in baseball, headed into their most important series in Detroit this afternoon with a half-game lead, and both Hal Newhouser and Dizzy Trout primed to shoot the works against the still dangerous New York Yankees.

Of even more importance to Manager Steve O'Neill in the stretch drive is the recent form of Stubby Overmire and Rufe Gentry who promise to give his two aces a lift. Overmire has a six-game winning streak, and Gentry, rookie from Buffalo, has started to live up to his early press notices with six of his nine victories in his last nine starts.

The entire Tiger staff boasts only five pitchers who have won a game this year—Newhouser with 25, Trout with 24, Overmire with 11, Gentry with 10 and Johnny Corsica with 6. Forrest Orrell, now with Buffalo, copped the other two before he was farmed out.

Despite three successive beatings by the A's that dumped them out of the lead and down the ladder to third, two games behind the Tigers, the Yankees are still in the race. Joe McCarthy has his pitching planned for the Detroit series, leading off with Hank Borowy, known off well he has to sweep all three to stay close.

Nels Potter, Denny Galehouse and Jack Kramer have been keeping the St. Louis Browns in the race, a half game back of the leaders, with a big chance to regain lost ground this week if they can trip the lowly Washington Senators and halt Philadelphia's revival.

Boston's hopes are not high after losing two of three to the Senators to sink four games off the pace, but the Red Sox still have a chance on their hitting power, despite weak pitching, if the others start to knock off one another.

Yesterday's only big league game was a 6-5 victory for the Braves over Brooklyn in 10 innings on a single by Butch Nieman. The loss sent the Dodgers tumbling back into the cellar as the Braves squeezed into sixth place.

The St. Louis Cards could clinch the National League flag today if Pittsburgh should lose to Brooklyn. They are already assured of at least a tie.

Sox Open Final Western Tour

By JOE CASHMAN

CLEVELAND, Sept. 19—This is the day on which Robert Pershing Doerr is slated for induction in the Army out on the West Coast, and it serves to start the Red Sox musing on what might have been. The Hose are four games out of first place as they start their final swing through the West in the opener of a three-game series with the Cleveland Indians tonight. Where would they be if they hadn't lost Doerr, "Tex" Hughson and Hal Wagner?

They think they'd be at least four games in front instead of four games back right now.

The majority of players on rival clubs, as well as the majority of experts and fans around the circuit, are of the same opinion.

There's a difference of opinion, though, as to which of the three absentees represents the heaviest loss to the Cronimmen.

Opposing managers and players are inclined to the belief that the departure of Hughson, author of 18 victories during his abbreviated diamond semester, hurt the most.

In recent weeks we've heard Manager Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox, Coach Earl Mack and "Bobo" Newsome of the Athletics and Rick Ferrell of the Senators express the view that the Hose would have breezed to the flag with Hughson, even without Doerr and Wagner in the supporting cast.

That seems to be the predominant slant, whether you talk with baseball people, writers or fans.

Yet among the Red Sox themselves—and they are best fitted to judge—you find many who disagree as agree with the conclusion.

They all admit of course, that Hughson was far and away the league's best pitcher, yes, they'll grant he was the only Sox slinger who could be termed a big leaguer.

But several of them nevertheless hold that the departure of Doerr and Wagner was a more damaging blow than the loss of their right-handed ace.

"Remember," one of the players pointed out to us, "we were a pretty good ball club even after 'Tex' left. We were. I think, six games back at the time. We pulled to within three games of first place.

"We stopped closing in when Wagner went away. We started losing ground again when Doerr stepped out.

"I'd say Hughson was our most valuable individual player. But he couldn't pitch us to a pennant unaided, and he was our only real pitcher. Trout and Newhouser combined, with 49 victories, are having trouble pitching the Tigers to a flag.

Our only chance was to blast our way to victory on the three days out of every four when we had inferior hurling.

"As long as we had Doerr, hitting .325, and Wagner, hitting .330, in there swinging with Fox, Johnson, Tabor, Finney and Metkovich, we usually had enough punch to overcome the handicap of second-rate pitching, even when we were getting it every day.

"Now, with the bats of Bobby and Hal missing, we haven't the power to offset poor pitching nearly as often as we did in the past.

"The absence of these two also weakened us a lot defensively. Doerr was the best fielding second sacker in the league. Wagner had proven a standout in handling pitchers.

"So I'd have to say that the loss of Doerr and Wagner was a more severe blow than the loss of even a pitcher as great as Hughson to this particular type of ball club."

SOX STILL DETERMINED

Wouldn't it be funny now if the Sox still won out without all three of these stars.

The chances aren't bright, but more surprising miracles have happened.

Anyway, the Cronimmen promise to keep giving their all until, if ever, they're mathematically eliminated. They haven't abandoned hope by any means.

Particularly is this true of Boss Joe, who proved it by sending the squad through a long workout here yesterday and then announcing a revamped batting order for tonight's game.

Eddie Lake will lead off followed by Metkovich. Fox, playing for the first time on the trip, will be in third place, then will come Johnson, Tabor, Finney, Partee, Newsome, at second base, and Rex Cecil, pitching.

Cornell Eases Pass Rule

ITHACA, N. Y., Sept 19 (AP)—Forward passing from any point behind the scrimmage line will be permitted in seven of Cornell University's nine football games this fall.

Athletic Director Robert J Kane announced today that agreements had been reached with Syracuse, Bucknell, Yale, Colgate Sampson, Columbia and Dartmouth for the lifting of restrictions imposed by the National Collegiate Athletic Ass'n. This procedure has been endorsed by the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Ass'n.

The NCAA rule requiring the passer to remain five yards back of the scrimmage line will stand against Navy and Pennsylvania, whose intersectional schedules make it impractical for them to accept the modification.

In all nine games, FIFA rule changes prohibiting out of bounds kickoffs, permitting use of a one-inch artificial tee for kickoffs, modifying forward pass penalties beyond the line of scrimmage, clarifying the off-side rule and permitting advance of fumbled balls by opponents will be followed.

Browns Duel Senators

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19 (AP)—With 141 games of their American League season past history, the Browns would as soon start their schedule over again—at least the first 13 games.

Here's why: The Brownies opened in April with a sensational streak of nine consecutive victories, a new league record. They went on to win 10 of their first 13 engagements.

Now only 13 games remain. Another nine-game victory streak, and St. Louis would be practically assured of its first pennant in history. Starting their stretch drive, the Browns open a three-game series tonight against last place Washington, which has won only one of eight games in St Louis.

Philadelphia, a trouble-maker for Manager Luke Sewell's men all season, is here for a three-game week-end series. Then Boston plays its final set of three here and the defending champion Yankees come for what St. Louis hopes will be the grand climax, a Brownie pennant.

After whooping off a seven-game lead in less than a month, the Browns once more look like pennant contenders. They beat the Chicago White Sox three out of four games last week-end for their first series victory since meeting the Yanks early in August.

Other Teams Wise, Melrose Has Power

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Coach Dave Gavin's having his troubles at Melrose High school this season.

He just can't find anything to worry about so he's griping around trying to find something to bother him so that he won't spread the word around, too much, that his Red Raiders will be the team to watch in the 1944 battle for the mythical state championship.

So to make himself happy, Dave's created the illusion that his team is going to be bad off this season without a left end and a quarterback. He's crying that the opposition will be running wild around that end and through the line if someone on the squad doesn't wake up mighty quickly as a Gene Goodreault to take over that wing. And, too, Dave is looking for a Sid Luckman for that backfield opening.

Anybody of less calibre just won't fit, so it seems, into the plans of carrying Melrose through the nine-game schedule for a three-year record of 26 straight triumphs for the former Holy Cross star. He's never been beaten on the gridiron at Melrose and once the team gets by Medford this Saturday, they should coast home.

As for romping through a Melrose line or around an end, there's no team in the state that is going to trample over Alden Murphy at a tackle or Dick Healy at center, two of the four veterans on the squad. Murphy, even before the start of the season, already has a leg on an all-scholastic berth. With Murphy, 220 pounds, to drive the opposing ball carriers out, Gavin can name almost anybody on the lengthy list of ends to knock him down.

Right now, he has Al Vittorosio, George Roaf, a letterman, Jim White and Ralph Loveys, a transfer from Chelsea, to fill this opening. Loveys, a crackerjack basketball player who set up new scoring records in junior high, has the inside track to date with the rivalry coming strong and fast.

You have to pity the poor backfield with only Wendy Forbes, 185 pounds, and Larry Brennan as veterans and Al Rathburn and Tom Emerson as letterman. They can all pass, Forbes is a good kicker, Rathburn has only 180 pounds in back of him to crack the line, Tracy Evans, a transfer scat-back from Wakefield, can jitterbug the opposition crazy.

Melrose's line will have Gene Basford, a back last year, balancing Murphy at the other tackle with 185-pounds of brawn and another of the Priestly family, Git, holding down the other end. Don McLean, at 195-pounds, and Paul McNamara, 150, will be the starting guards until proven otherwise by a flock of classy line spares.

Walter Creedon, Val Troy, John Wills, 180-pounds, Vic Wells, George Walker, Bob Boyd, John Lounsbury, Bruce Gulian, Joe Dowling, Dave Smith and Martin Smith still have their flings at guards and tackles. Bob Gay will be a good spare at center. Bill Madden and Bob Scarborough will develop as ends.

Backfield reserves? Poor Dave is lost with only Pete Sheridan, a promising soph brother of Walter, Dave Shaw, Ken Carleton, Ollie Demaris and Dick Harlow.

Tobin's 17 Wins for Braves Amazing

By FRED HOEY

Batting leaders, Stan Musial of the Cards and Dixie Walker of the Dodgers, together with leading pitchers, Mort Cooper of the Cards and Bucky Walters of the Reds, notwithstanding their outstanding achievements this season, have not earned the best ball player award of the National League for 1944.

That great honor and distinction belongs right here in Boston. There will be no accolades, cheers or fan-fare, but the distinction belongs to Old Ironsides, Jim Tobin of the Boston Braves. He's sometimes referred to as the Tugboat Annie of big league pitchers.

For a team like the Braves, hitting a measly .249 to tie the Phils in last place in the hit column, Tobin's achievement of winning 17 ball games is truly the most magnificent mark of an otherwise screwy season. Five of those 17 wins have been shut-outs, and against good teams too.

There is no question that had Tobin been with a club that could hit, say, even .275 and field reasonably clean, today he would have nearly 30 wins to his credit, instead of 17, which were grabbed the real hard way.

The Braves have 11 remaining games. Possibly Old Ironsides will take a shot at three of these in an effort to equal the 1937 record of Lou Fette and Jim Turner who turned in 20 wins that season under the brilliant Bill McKechnie.

Meanwhile the Braves are laying off today and will make ready for the St. Louis Cards who breeze in tomorrow for a single game. The Cards have the pennant practically sewed up and need only one more game to make it official. The Braves will endeavor to make them wait one more day before celebrating.

Hub Tenders Collins Genuine Welcome

Dame Boston reached out to New York today, grabbed Ted Collins to her bosom, and tossed him an hilarious "Welcome" party at the Copley Plaza attended by 750 pro football enthusiasts.

If Collins ever had any misgivings about the reception his Yanks football squad would receive in this city, they were dispelled today.

Said Denis Delaney, chairman of the Yanks Marching and Chowder Club: "Boston doesn't expect any miracles from you this year, Ted. You've done exceptionally well in fielding a team at all. We simply want you to know that Boston is with you, will be with you if you lose every game this year. We appreciate the gamble you've taken, the money you've invested and we know you'll come up with a good club as soon as conditions permit."

"Football was always my favorite sport," said Collins in acknowledging the tribute. "I always wanted to own a football team, and I believe I have the makings of one. Whether I have or not time will tell, but I will say that I'm in the game to stay, or as long as Bostonians want me."

Delaney also paid tribute to the pluck of Herb Kopf, who not only has been coaching the club but has been acting as traveling secretary, purchasing agent and groundkeeper.

INEVITABLE COOK THERE

"He hasn't even got a field to practice on," said Delaney, "and he doesn't have half his squad together during the week. Yet I feel sure he'll field an eleven that will provide Bostonians with entertaining football."

It was a festive occasion. Mayor Tobin was there in all his splendor. Lee Phillips kept the gathering in merry mood with his piano solos. Tom McGowan proved a witty toastmaster. Frank Cook represented a Brazilian nobleman and told why pro football never could go in Boston—until—yes, the roof came down on his head.

AROUND AND ABOUT—Crews from Cornell, Harvard and Tech will meet in varsity and Saturday. Bob Moch, coxswain on junior varsity races on the Charles the U. of Washington crew that won the '36 Olympics, is coaching host Tech . . . Lew Manley speaking: "Give Jenkins and Cowen their due, but the man who gave Harvard victory over Tufts was Henry Lamar. His looping defenses confused us. He was masterful in his handling of Jenkins, putting him in only when he was rested and ready for the long gainer" . . . Keith Ranspot: "Bob Davis (Yank halfback) looks like another Cliff Battles. Joe Crowley will be a very good pro end. Don Hutson (Green Bay) has a $150,000 bar and bowling alley in Green Bay. Our Southern Methodist team went to the Rose Bowl because Wilson didn't know the signals on a pass play. Bob Finley (now catching for the Phils) threw a long pass down field. Wilson caught it and ran for a touchdown. We beat Sammy Baugh's team, 20-14, and went to the Rose Bowl . . . .

Leg Holds May Bother O'Connor

Leo Numa will be depending on his leg-holds to cut down Patrick O'Connor's speed before he applies the finishing touches to the Irish wrestler in the main bout of Promoter Paul Bowser's weekly mat program at the Arena tomorrow night.

It only took O'Connor 11 minutes to stop Ed "Strangler" White, Alabama, last week, but Numa will be a much tougher problem in O'Connor's path to the title.

Three matches on the supporting card will complete the program. Marvin Westenberg, former world's champion, will be tangling with Jack Clayburn, Roxbury Colored ace, in the semi-final; George Linehan, Wayland, will square off against Kemol Abdel Rahman, New York, in the weekly special, while Dr. John "Drop-Kick" Murphy, Acton osteopath, will be matched with Count Von Zuppe, Chicago, in the opener at 8:15.

Hurricane Cancels Hotel Men's Golf

The annual Hotel and Restaurant News golf tournament scheduled for Oyster Harbors Club, Osterville, next Monday, has been cancelled, it was announced today by Glenwood J. Sherrard of the Parker House, general chairman.

The action followed word from John F. Fitzgerald, manager, who said the club had been forced to close for the season because of hurricane damage.

Wastes Her Gas

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 19 (AP) — "Twelve gallons, please," said the woman motorist, displaying four "A" coupons that expire on the coast Thursday.

At 11.9 gallons, the attendant told her the tank was running over.

"Oh, dear!" she exclaimed. Then she started the motor, raced it for a moment and said, "now try it."

And that's how she got a full 12 gallons.
